

CONNECT YOUR STUDENTS TO THE WORLD
INSPIRE GLOBAL LEARNING

WITH ANYTIME, ANYWHERE ACCESS
TO NYTIMES.COM

The New York Times
inEDUCATION

The New York Times inEDUCATION

NYTimes.com delivers global breaking news, 24/7 updates, and award-winning photography and video.

GIVE NYTIMES.COM ACCESS TO ALL YOUR STUDY ABROAD STUDENTS – AT DISCOUNTED GROUP RATES.

As part of your study abroad curriculum, The Times's digital content fosters a deeper understanding of the cultural, social, historical and political circumstances of the countries your students visit — while allowing them to stay connected to news from home.

Whether featured as a course requirement, offered as a comprehensive research tool or simply as a way to keep your students globally engaged, The New York Times enriches the student experience, encourages the development of critical thinking skills and sparks ideas. Our turnkey programs are both easy to implement and affordable for institutions of all sizes.

To learn more, visit nytimes.com/studyabroad or contact your representative at hall@nytimes.com or (972) 292-3851.

KEY BENEFITS

ACCESS FROM ANYWHERE:

Access, browse, search and share globally relevant content across more than 15 sections, including articles, opinion pieces, photography and video. Digest the news from either a desktop or mobile phone.

RELEVANT CONTENT ACROSS DISCIPLINES:

Award-winning journalism — now with 117 Pulitzer Prizes — includes engaging video, photos, podcasts, data visualizations and more.

AGGREGATED CONTENT AND TOOLS:

Easily find news, reference and archival information, photos, graphics and more, all searchable by focus area. Plus customizable alerts and email newsletters.

